

Living in the Wider World

I can describe ways of paying that don't involve cash e.g. debit cards, credit cards, online payments.

I can take account of other people's ideas and opinions when making decisions about saving and spending my money.

I know why it is important to help others e.g. by donating to charity.

I know I need to check and keep basic financial information e.g. receipts, bills, bank statements.

I can use simple financial information to plan and manage a basic budget and keep track of my spending.

I know that advertising is used to persuade me to spend my money.

I know that 'Value for Money' means it is worth spending that amount of money on it.

I can make comparisons between prices when deciding what the best value is for money, including for services such as electricity, phones and the internet.

I can identify a range of jobs.

I know that some jobs are paid more than others and that some jobs are voluntary (unpaid).

I know that there are different career paths including college, university and apprenticeships.

I understand how to keep myself safe online and who to contact if I am worried e.g. a trusted adult

I know the age restrictions when viewing online content.

I can evaluate how reliable different types of online media are e.g. blogs, news, adverts.
